The Markets. The situation of the cathe market remains much the same as a week ago. The receipts during the past week were a little lighter, but ample for the demand, if good corn-ted beasts be excepted which where scarce. What few good, ripe, corn-fed cattle coming in are seiling well and may be a little firmer. The western range cattle, however, have the market and buyers are slow to bid the prices of these up. While prices are no higher, the general feeling in the trade is a little better. Since the weather has grown colder there has been quite a picking up in the demand for western cattle from beeders though not sufficient to change prices. Looking over the market from east to west, the outlook is a little more encouraging. Many of the heavy shiptom Shoe Store and see his men's $1.25 pers from the northwest are through, and the labor troubles are quicting -Can fit all ages and sizes with boys down, stock water is better and late pasturage good; hence while we are unable to report any advance, the situation of the market is more encouraging
